

The Scenic San Luis & Rio Grande From Colorado to your home

New to the Kato HO Line comes a brand new release of the EMD SD90/43MAC in both Union Pacific "Standard" and the brand-new San Luis & Rio Grande varieties

The San Luis & Rio Grande Railroad (SLRG) runs west from a connection with the Union Pacific railroad at Walsenburg, CO, over the Sangre de Cristo Mountains at La Veta Pass and into the fertile valley of the San Luis and Rio Grande Rivers. In addition to operating excursion trains through the La Veta pass, the SLRG hauls grain and various minerals, utilizing the colossal pulling power of the SD90 to great effect.
